4th ASCI Winterschool on Embedded Systems

16-19 March 2010, Soesterberg, klooster Cenakel
The 2010 edition
The 2010 edition

- Central theme: Programming many-core systems
The 2010 edition

- Central theme: Programming many-core systems
- Nicely balanced program, addressing the theme from different perspectives
  - ✓ 14 expert lecturers
  - ✓ 5 lecturers from industry, 9 from academia
The 2010 edition

- Central theme: Programming many-core systems
- Nicely balanced program, addressing the theme from different perspectives
  - 14 expert lecturers
  - 5 lecturers from industry, 9 from academia
- In total, 55 participants
  - 40 (!) PhD student participants
PhD student participants
PhD student participants

- UvA: 10
- TU Delft: 8
- TU/e: 8
- TU Twente: 7
- UL: 4
- VU: 2
Format

- Lectures of 1x or 2x 45 minutes
- Lots of coffee/tea breaks
  ✓ Use those for discussion with the lecturers!
- Tuesday, wednesday and friday until 5.30/6.00 pm
- Thursday until 2 pm, followed by a social event
Format

- Lectures of 1x or 2x 45 minutes
- Lots of coffee/tea breaks
  ✓ Use those for discussion with the lecturers!
- Tuesday, wednesday and friday until 5.30/6.00 pm
- Thursday until 2 pm, followed by a social event
  ✓ Social event: something really Dutch! ;-)

For the ASCI PhD students

• 4 EC are awarded only when the final assignment is completed successfully
For the ASCI PhD students

- 4 EC are awarded only when the final assignment is completed successfully

- Final assignment
  - ✓ Write a joint research proposal/paper (5-7 pages) with another PhD student from a different university
  - ✓ Proposal/paper needs to have a topical relation with the Winterschool, but try to use each other’s expertise
  - ✓ Use guidelines from NWO (“EW Vrije Competitie”) or STW (“Open Technologieprogramma”)
  - ✓ So, talk to other PhD students during the Winterschool!
For the ASCI PhD students

• 4 EC are awarded only when the final assignment is completed successfully

• Final assignment
  ✓ Write a joint research proposal/paper (5-7 pages) with another PhD student from a different university
  ✓ Proposal/paper needs to have a topical relation with the Winterschool, but try to use each other's expertise
  ✓ Use guidelines from NWO ("EW Vrije Competitie") or STW ("Open Technologieprogramma")
  ✓ So, talk to other PhD students during the Winterschool!

Deadline: 26 April 2010
Winterschool organization

- Program committee
- Ed Deprettere (UL)
- Henk Corporaal (TU/e)
- Gerard Smit (TU Twente)
- Andy Pimentel (UvA)

- Local arrangements + general support
- Ilse van Rij (ASCI)
- Ilse Oonk (ASCI)
Enjoy the Winterschool!